A Few of the Thinge Which Can Happen to a Horse During a Race, and Nome of the Reasons Why Revees Do Not Fer-form Consistently-Sale of Tearlings. The racing at Gravesend since the opening of the autumn meeting of the Brooklyn Jockey Olinb has been unusually good, considering the quality of the horses which have participated in the events offered by Securetary McIntyre. All of the best two-year-olds are out of train-ing, and Requital, the champion three-year-old, is in partial eclipse waiting for a valuable en-gagement later on in the season. As for the high-class handicap horses we have none when Henry of Navarre and Clifferd are off the scene. On the whole, under these circumstant it is a matter of congratulation that the sport has been so good at Gravescud. The programme for the current week is good enough to bring out smart fields in nearly all of the stake events. To-morrow the two-year-olds will meet in the Youthful Stakes of $1,500 at five and a half furlengs, and all ages will have an opportunity to try conclusions in the Atlantic Stakes, a heavy-weight handicap at five furlongs. George Rose, Cleophus, Sulsun, Flying Squadron, Tragedian, Arbuckles St. Bartholomew, and Celoso are the most prominently known of the nominations for the former, while Gotham, Rubicon, Preston, Irish Reel, Agitator, Bonaparte, and Ferrier are the best known of those named for the sprinting events. There are no stake features on Wednesday, but en Thursday the Speculation Stakes at a mile, for three-year-olds and upward, with Buck Massie, Gotham, Rubicen, Connoisseur, Deerslayer, Harry Reed, Urania, Lissak, Glenmoyne Damien, and other good ones engaged should produce a rousing contest. For Saturday the Billow Stakes for two-year-olds at five furious and the Fulton Stakes for three-year-olds at a mile will be run. In the Billow The Frier, Sunny Slope, Cleophus, Suisun, Rhodesia, Winged et, Regulator, Challenger, Voter, and Distinction are eligible, and it should be very interest-ing if only the speedy fillies Rhodesia, Sunny Blope, and Oleophus went to the post. It would suit them to a dot as far as distance goes, and it would be a very lively event from a speculative standpoint, as each of the young misses in question have a host of admirers. There is a bare change of seeing Requital in the Fulton Stakes. Those opposed to him are Ben Eder, Souffie, Ramiro, Roundsman, Argentina, and Horses are like human beings in a number of ways, but they lack the power of speech and cannot tell those who have charge of them when they are ailing, and would rather remain when they are alling, and would rather remain in the stable than go upon the race track. They can only give indications of their sufferings through a dead and dry coat, a glassy responsibility of the stable than go upon the race track. They can only give indications of their sufferings through a dead and dry coat, a glassy responsibility of the stable than go upon the race track. They come horsement are quick to detect those symptoms and to govern themselves according to circumstances. They race their horses what there are others who do not known enough about their bainsass and only here is no other cause to which it can be attributed. When horses do not run the same day in and day out it gives cause for complaining on the part of those who specular they listen to the bundred and one tale-partitions of the race, but failed to put a better the race, but failed to put a better the race, but failed to put a better the so many forward and get running at once free and clear, or be may be crowded and Jostied, knocked off his stride and nover recover his equilibrium until he is too far be may be crowded and Jostied, knocked off his stride and nover recover his equilibrium until he is too far better the sum of the may be crowded and Jostied, knocked off his stride and nover recover his equilibrium until he is too far better the sum of the may be crowded and Jostied, knocked off his stride and nover recover his equilibrium until he is too far better the sum of the may be crue for the part of the sum of the stride and nover recover his equilibrium until he is too far better the sum of the in the stable than go upon the race track. Little Chugnut appears to be the legitimate successor to the title of "the iron horse." handed down successively from Barnum to Blitzen, and from Blitzen to Banquet. Viruinia Bradley believes that horses were born to be raced, and he races them on week days and sometimes works them on Sunday. Chugnut is three years old, but he knows his way around the race track alone, having participated in upward of seventy races since he first had a saddle but on his back. He has been a factor in many of them, and is unquestionably one of the truestruning and stoutest little thoroughbreds in training. He has been lame for some time past, and finished far behind his field at Gravesend a few days ago. When Blitzen was in his prime Mr. Bradley dodged nobody, and if the track was heavy the brown horse generally got the money, no matter how hot the company happened to be. It was at this time that the tail Virginian got off his famous remark about Josh Jones, who was then his star Jockey. Bradley was agreat believer in the merits of the hay which grew in the James River Valley, in which his farm was located, and he always carried enough of it to feed his string of race horses. Blitzen had raced on Saturday at Sheepshead Bay and was shipped to Guttenburg on Sudday, reaching the hill-top course late in the evening. He was sent a mile and started in a race on the following day. Too much work or lack of work made Blitzen stop in the race, and Bradley let out a warwhoop and want looking for "Joshnay," whom he accused of "letting Blitzen fill up on that Jeems River folder." There are few men who can beat "Brad" patching up a cripple, and he has won a great many races with horses which had been discarded as worthless for racing purposes.

Most of the jockeys are fond of a good road horse, and Fred Tarai drives a pacer that has been a mile in 2:15 or better, the gelding being a gift from Johnny Campbell after Diablo won the Brooklyn Handicap. Main Boggett, however, owns the kingpin of the road in the old pacing gelding Arrow, record 2:12. Frank Beard having made the jockey a present of the star pacer of his day. Arrow was driven by Budd Boble when in his prime, and John H. Shuita, the millionaire baker, gave $10,000 for him. The veteran can speed almost as fast as ever and look a remarkably well. Aquinas has a record of six furiongs in 1:14, and the St. Louis Globe-Democrating thus describes the race: "Aquinas added another great rans yesterday to his radiant series of victories at the Fair Grounds this season. Schreiber's gelding met Algol and Johnny McHale in a six-futiong dash, and defeated them in the smarking time of 1:14. Johnny McHale, on the strength of his uniformly fast races, went to the post a strong favorite at even money, while Algol, considered by many to be the best two-year-old out this year, was lavishly supported at 2 to 1. Aquinas was lavishly supported at 2 to 1. Aquinas was lavishly supported at 2 to 1. Aquinas was lavishly supported by his owner. The tric got away to a flying start, with Aquinas receiving slightly the worst of the brack. The race was run just to suit Aquinas, however. Algel and Johnny McHale, running as a team, set a heart-breaking pace, three-lengths in front of Aquinas, to the head of the stretch. Straightened out for the home run, the leaders showed some signs of fatigue, and Aquinas gained on them at every stride. A sixteenth out he was at Algol's withers, the latter a nose behind McHale, and a few yards further Aquinas gained on them at every stride. A sixteenth out he was at Algol's withers, the latter a nose behind McHale, and a few yards further Aquinas got his head in front, and it was a comparatively easy matter for him to win by a length and a half. Johnny McHale was beaten half a length for second mone,"

In the Cambridgeshire Stakes, to be run two weeks later at the Newmarket Heughton meeting, Ramapo carries 113 pounds, while Omnium II, gets in at 127 pounds, the top weight being Victor Wild, 135 pounds, Rilocek, Sir Visto, Regret, and other well known performers concede weight to the Jersey-bred one. These two handicaps have especial significance for Americans aince the days of Foxhail, and it will be highly interesting to see how the latest candidate from these shores makes out.

Ramapo also figures amony the acceptances for the Old Cambridgeshire Handicap to be run on Oct. 30. His lapost is 117 pounds, the top weight being Marco, 126 pounds.

Wishard is left in for the Duke of York Stakes, to be run over the Jubiles course on Oct. 10. He is allotted 103 pounds, while Victor Wild again has the post of honor, with 130 pounds up.

CRICKET.

Capt, Trott's Opinion of the Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—The great rain storm of Saturday evening had a disastrous of fect on the wicket at Manheim, where the cricket game between the Australians and Gen-tlemen of Philadelphia is being played. The Philadelphians will have a difficult task to run up a big score in their second inning, and everything indicates an easy victory for the Antipo-deans. G. H. S. Trott, the Australian captain, has nothing but praise for the play of the Phila-delphians. He was particularly pleased with the work of Raiston behind the wickets, and "I consider the wicket keeping of Ralston magnificent. We did not see his superior said: "I consider the wicket keeping of Raiston magnificent. We did not see his superior during our tour of Great Britain. He took the balls neatly, and made us watch ourselves lest we should get out of our crease, and his handling of nasty bye balls was simply great."

Asked his opinion of the possible success a Philadelphia team would have in England, Capt. Trott raid:

"If a Philadelphia team goes over it will make a creditable showing, for I believe that outside of the two or three very strong counties your players will have excellent chances to win. The majority of the men who played against us are good enough to play on county teams in England, and with more first class practice they should do even better."

The next game of the Australians in this city, which will be played on the Belmont grounds on Friday, Saturday, and Monday, should prove the best contest of the three. The wicket here is in aplendid condition, and some big scores should be rolled up, it was on this ground thatthe Philadelphians made 525 runs in 1893.

ROWING.

The Clarement Caremen Enjoy Themselves on the Hudson River, There was a fine turnout yesterday for the second annual regatta of the Claremont Boat Club, which was held off their float at 125th street and Hudson River. There was considable excitement during the regata, caused by able excitement during the regata, caused by several of the members jumping overboard to rescue a four-oared gig from being dashed to pieces by the swell of a passing steamer. The pieces by the swell of a passing steamer. The boys got a ducking with their best clothes on, but they saved the boat. The various races were watched with interest by a number of persons from Riverside Park.

The first event was the double-scull gig raca, which was rowed in one heat instead of two as originally intended. The winners were John Quill, stroke; Thomas Fitzpatrick, bow, and D. F. Mangin, cosswain. On account of rough water only two men competed in the single-scull shell race, the others dropping out. D. F. Mangin won. The four-oared barge race was rowen in two heats, and proved very interesting. The first heat was won by the following crew: W. Malloy, bow; William Maher, 2: Joseph Mangin, 3: M. G. Cunningham, stroke, and M. J. O'Keefe, coxswain. The second heat was also close and interesting, and was won by T. Malloy, bow; John Hailoran, 2: Joseph Wessler, 3: John Engel, stroke, and D. F. Mangin, coxswain. The final heat will be rowed at a date to be decided upon by the Regatta Committee.

The senior swimming race was open to all, and there were six entries, two from the Claremonts and four from the Hudsons. It was won by Eugene McCaffrey of the Claremonts.

The sport wound up with the goese race, which was greatly enjoyed and proved quite laughable. There were only three competitors—William Cary and M. G. Cunningham of the Claremonts and William Saiter of the Bloomingdales. Carey, who is as wiry as an eel, managed to catch the goose.

A Gig Crew Blown Against a Bock, During the storm on Saturday afternoon a four-cared sig crew from the Waveriy Club was blown against the 129th street dock. The boat was upset and a big hole stove through the bottom of the gig. One of the crew named Simpson could not swim, but the accident was noticed by the members of the Hudson Boat Club from their house, at the foot of 127th street, and Simpson was rescued by John Schuitz. Other members of the organization brought the wrecked gig into their club house.

A Wonderful Youngster at Croquet.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.-Sackett Duryca, a 15-year-old lad, bore off the championship bonors in the first class at the third annual croquet tournament, which closed in this city vesterday. Duryea's accuracy and skill in the management Duryea's accuracy and skill in the management of the bail and mallet were simply unapproachable, and only for a "fluke" he would have won all the eight games in which he was entered. His opponents included the ex-champion of the United States and others of national renown, but Dr. Veasey of Wilmington, Del., was the only one who scored a victory ever him. Two of the games were won by the youthful champion before Dr. Veasey passed a sligic wicket, and one game was won on a single play.

An effort will be made to have the the national tournament next year in this city.

WITH TROTTER AND PACER.

STAR POINTER'S PHENOMENAL All Boubts as to the Authenticity of John

E. Gentry's Record-breaking Mile Set at Rest-A Crack Field of Horses for the Transpiranta Stakes at Lexington. Star Pointer's record-breaking performance at Mystic Park last Friday was the legitimate sequel to his wonderful losing race against John R. Gentry at Glens Falls. By defeating Rober J. and Frank Agan over the comparatively slow Boston track, Hal Pointer's half brother has conclusively proved his right to finish within a length of John R. Gentry in 2:01% and whatever doubt horsemen may have enter-tained at first concerning the accuracy of the time announced for the second heat of the redispelled. In a campaign which has been nota-ble for surprises and disappointments touching the trotters and pacersof the free-for-all brigade, no change of form more remarkable than that displayed by Star Pointer during the past six weeks can be recalled. After falling to beat the distance flag in his match race against Joe Patchen at Combination Park, and again getting shut out in the Fleetwood free-for-all, the Tennessee stallion seems to have struck his gait all of a sudden in the race against Gentry at the fast track in northern New York, and, now that the champion stallion is no longer in his path, he looks like the master of the situation. The crack pacers will come together again this week at Rigby Park, Portland, which is called the fastest trotting course in the East, and if the weather is favorable further sensetional performances should be in order.

Star Pointer, the new aspirant for champion honors, is the only pacing-bred pacer of promi-nence now in training. John R. Gentry, Frank Agan, Joe Patchen, and Robert J. are all trot ting-bred horses without a recognized pacing cross close up initheir inheritance, the first three being descendants of George Wilkes, while little Robert is a grandson of Harold, the sire of Maud S., 2:08%. The mares have shown a mile to pole in 2:13 in their work recently, and it is expected that they will do something notable to-day. Two purse races for trotters of the 2:28 and 2:37 classes have been arranged to fill out the card for the afternoon.

Cephas is no longer the champion trotter of the half-mile tracks, the Nebraska four-year-old, Pat L., having lowered the record to 2:10b, at Huntington. Ind., on Sept. 11. The winner defeated Dandy Jim in straight heats, the line of which was 2:12b, 2:10b, and 2:11b, thus placing to his credit the fastest race evertrotted on a half-mile track. The purse which rewarded this remarkable display of speed was worth $120 to the winner. Rife Shooting.

Rife Shooting.

The twenty-third annual shooting featival of the Zetter Rife Club was begun yeaterday at Cypress Hill Park, Evergreen, L. I. The attendance was large, and some good scores were made, yet the shoot was more in the nature of a preliminary. The buik of the shooting was done on the point targets, and most of the sharpshooters put a round number of bull's-syes to their credit, Fred C. Ross leading with 29. The best bull's-eys was made by J. Rebhan of the Hudson Riffe Club, whose shot went plumb through the centre.

In the competition for the Zetter cup Thomas Lloyd made the best score, 70, and most thing. took part in the run received a souveair medal.

GOLFERS STILL ACTIVE

CONFLICTS IN THE DATES OF COM-ING TOURNAMENTS.

Tucker and Be Carmendia Paverites for the Foursome Matches with Bunn and Harriman-Work on Mt. Androw's New Course-For the Women's Championship. No contests of the season have created more interest than the coming foursome between Will Tucker and B. S. De Garmendia against Willie Dunn and H. M. Harriman. Public opin-ion seems to favor Tucker and De Garmendia as the winners, especially as the first match is on Tucker's home green. Still, both Dunn and Harriman are now in good golfing form, and the outcome is by no means a foregone conclusion. It is interesting to note that in close proximity to New York there are now three such excellent links as those that the foursomes are to be decided on. The St. Andrew's course was never in such superb condition; the Ardeley links, laid out at an expense of $50,000, are unsurpassed in varieties of hazards and smooth putting greens, while Knollwood is now one of the finest 18-hole courses in the world. Since the spring tournament steam rollers have been over every part of these links daily, so that the poor lies, formerly the weak point, are now eradicated. Webb, the Irish amateur, after his match with Toler last Tuesday, said that the Knollwood course would compare favorably with any links in Great Britain. To have three such fine links, in the short life of the game in this country, within a short journey from New York, is a compliment to the real and enterprise of the golfers. Fine as the St. Andrew's course has been made, it is to be abandoned next spring for the 18-hole course at Mount Hope. Work on this new course is progressing rapidly. Superintendent Swann having a gang of twenty men employed. The new St. Andrew's club house, however, has not as yet been started. This week there is a clash in dates between Lenox and Essex county, while there are pro-fessional competitions arranged for Oct. 3 at both Shinnecock Hills and Knollwood, Next week there will be a conflict between the women's championship at the Morris County Country Club and the annual tournament at St. Andrew's. By next season the golfers hope that some plan of claiming dates in advance may be in working order, so that these confusing disagreements may be avoided. Entries for the women's championship close on Tuesday, Sept. 29, with H. O. Talimadge, Secretary of the United States Golf Association. When Mrs. Charles S. Brown won the title of champion at Meadowbrook last November there were thirteen contestants, representing respectively the Sninnecock Hills, Morris County, Essex County, Meadowbrook, and Newport clubs. It is said that Miss Shearson, Mrs. H. C. Chatfield-Taylor, and Mrs. E. S. Adams will come on from Chicago, and undoubtedly Mrs. William Shippen, Miss Shelton, Miss Catlin, Miss Little, and nossibly Miss Anna Ford will enter from the Morris County Club. Newport, Lenox, and Boston will send representative players, and the Philadelphia, New Jersey, and New York State clubs will also figure on the list. Robert Cox, the Scotch member of Parliament, who has donated the magnificent trophy as the perpetual embiem of the women's championship, will not be able to witness the contest.

The Arthur Smith cup will be played for at week there will be a conflict between the championship, will not be able to witness the contest.

The Arthur Smith cup will be played for at the Richmond County Country Club Oct. 18 to 21. The lowest attested score between the dates specified will win the trophy.

The third cup presented by Edward D. Adams will be contested for at the Seabright Golf Club on Thursday. The conditions are eighteen holes, under special handleaps, medal play.

match for the championship medal, presented by H. Hewat, will be on Oct. 3. The Paterson men will play until the anow files. Harry Vardon, champion of Great Britain, and Alex Herd played an exhibition game of thirty-six holes on Sept. 3 on Hunstanton links. Herd was five up on the morning play, but the match was halved at the end, after Vardon had missed a four-foot but to win. By strokes Vardon was 149 to Herd's 148. Two days later A. Herd beat A. Tingey at Brancaster in a match for a purse by three up and two to play.

Thirty-two players started in the Irish champlonships, a fortnight ago, at Newcastle, county Down. W. B. Taylor of Edinburgh specared to defend the title he won last year at Portrush, but neither Alex Stuart of Edinburgh, who won the first competition, in 1892, nor John Bail, Jr., who won the two succeeding years, was present. Five of the players represented English clubs, the remainder were divided about equally between Scotch and Irish organizations. The concluding match was played Friday, Sept. 4, between W. H. Taylor and D. Anderson, and resulted in favor of the former, the holder, by nine up and eight to play. The professional competition was won by H. Sayers, North Berwick, with 159, beating G. Pulford, A. Herd, Harry Vardon, open champion, W. Fernie, A. Toogood, A. Kirkaldy, A. Simpson, and five others.

ED CRANK ENDS HIS LIFE. Now York's Old Pitcher Takes an Over

ROCHESTER, Sept. 20.—Edward N. Crane, noted as a National League and an Eastern League pitcher, ended his life here last night by taking an overdose of chloral, Prolonged dissipation and consequent despondency are assigned as the reasons for the rash act. For the past two years Crane has been inti-mately identified with Rochester baseball. He came here in July, 1895, having been released by Toronto. He did good work for the Cana diana, but Rochester wanted him, and was obliged to pay good money for him. He proved to be a failure, but played the season out. This year he started in with Providence, but his arm to be a failure, but played the season out. This year he started in with Providence, but his arm was in poor shape, and he received his release. Then he went to Springfield, but he did no better, and he wantered further west. He umpired soveral games for Rochester, but was not a success, and President Pat Powers released him.

Since that time and for the past few weeks he has been going about the country, picking up a few jobs as an umpire for the country clubs, and all the time drinking harder and harder. On Saturday the prorprietor of Congress Hail, where Crans was stopping, told him that he would have to vacate his room to-day, and Crane replied that he would. He had been drinking heavily all day, and when he retired last night seemed to be very gloomy.

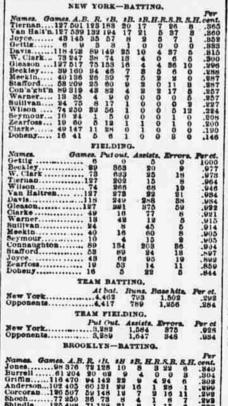

This morning the bell boy at Congress Hail tried to wake him upat 10 o'clock, but could get no answer. The clerk finally crawled through the transom and found him lying dead in bed. He had destroyed every paper in the room that would give any information regarding his anterestedents. An inquest will be held at the Morgue to-morrow by Coroner Kleindienst.

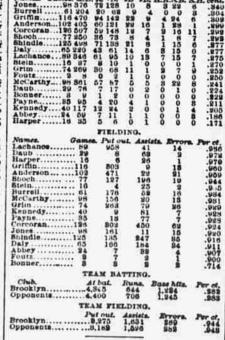

Crane was a South Boston boy. He pitched for the New Yorks in 1888 and 1889, and then joined the Players' Brotherhoud in 1890. In 1891 and 1892 he was again with the Giants. He won the international championship for the Torontos in 1887, this being his first phenomenal work as a pitcher. His body will probably be sent to Boston for burial, as his parents reside in that city. His wife and four-rear-old child are at Chicago, she having separated from him a year ago.

On Oct. 12, 1884, on the Cincinnati Baseball Club grounds Crane is said to have thrown a bail 135 yards 1 foot and 16 inch. A week latter at St. Louis he is said to have thrown a bail 135 yards 1 foot and 16 inch. A week latter at St. Louis he is said to have thrown a bail 135 yards 1 foot and 16 inch. A week latter at St. Louis he is said to have thrown a pall side was parted from him a year ago.

The Record of the New York and Brook lyn Players to Date.

ing at Cornell. ITHACA, Sept. 20.-When the football men met for practice yesterday afternoon a large number of new candidates appeared. A surprise was in store for the candidates, too, when athletic-looking stranger in a blue as with a Y on the front, took the line men out on the field and put them through some points of the game. The coach was Sanford, the ex-Yale player. He has been engaged as assistant player. He has been engaged as assistant coach, and will remain at Cornell for the balance of the season. When it became evident as the close of last season that Marshall Newell's services as coach could not be secured for this season, because of Harvard's first claim upon him, it was decided at first to do without a coach from another university and have Cornell graduates, with football experience, come back and coach at different periods. The plan was also to make the captain of the team the head coach when it was found that Sanford's services could be secured the plan was changed. The original intention of having Capt, Beacham as the leading coach is to be adhered to as well as having Cornell graduates to assist him.

Football Notes.

The South Brooklyn Wheelmen have appointed a committee to organize a football team. If indications can be relied upon, the Coronas will have a strong team in the field. The candidates are now hard at practice, and a schedule will be arranged very soon. will be arranged very soon.

The Berkeley School candidates will report fee practice at Berkeley Oval to-morrow afternoon. Although no coach has been engaged the bovs will practice under the direction of their captain.

The Norwich A. C. of Brooklyn have organised a strong team, averaging 180 pounds. Joe Donovan who plays centre, weighs 250 pounds. S. J. Taylor has been elected captain and James Holder manager.
